Pasta, Missy Robbins

REST

45 minutes to 1 hour uncovered in the refrigerator

DETAILS

- Dough: egg-dough
- Region: Friuli, the Carnic Alps

METHOD

1. Make your chosen egg-based dough, then roll and sheet it.
2. Dust a wooden board with 00 flour. Cover a sheet pan with parchment, then dust the parchment with semolina.
3. Lay one sheet on the board. Cut rounds with a #70 (2 3/4-inch) fluted pastry cutter, leaving 1/8 inch between them.
4. Load the filling into a pastry bag cut to a 1/2-inch opening. Pipe a quarter-sized dab of filling into the middle of each round.
5. If the dough feels dry rather than moderately tacky, mist the rounds with a spray bottle held 8 to 10 inches above the board. Skip this if the dough is already tacky.
6. Hold a round in your palm and fold the top half over the bottom half, lining up the edges, to make a half-moon.
7. Pinch the edge shut around the filling with thumb and index finger. Work back and forth a few times and push all the air out.
8. Set the piece on the prepared pan. Fill and fold the rest of the rounds, keeping them in a single layer, and dust the pan again with semolina.
9. Do the same with the remaining sheets.
10. Refrigerate uncovered for 45 minutes to 1 hour to dry. Covered pieces sweat and get too wet. To hold longer, lay plastic wrap loosely over the pan and refrigerate up to 8 hours.

SHAPING

NOTES

Cut from 2 3/4-inch rounds (#70 fluted cutter), spaced 1/8 inch apart on the sheet.

Filling per piece: a quarter-sized circle piped through a 1/2-inch opening.

Seal geometry: a plain half-moon. Fold, pinch the edge closed around the filling, force the air out. No dimple, no collar, no second closure.

Mechanically identical to mezzelune and casunziei at this size. The difference lives in the filling, which is sweet-savory: cocoa, dried fruit, ricotta, and citrus zest, angled here toward savory so it still reads as a primo.

The book's own dough is an egg-based one, though the version that inspired it in Udine used a potato dough.

Storage: 45 minutes to 1 hour uncovered to dry, then up to 8 hours refrigerated under loose plastic.

Served the alpine way, with butter and shaved smoked ricotta, cocoa, and cinnamon in any combination.
