YIELD	ACTIVE TIME	REST
filling for 1 large empanada	15 min	none given by the source

DETAILS

- Cook: not given by the source

INGREDIENTS

2	Fresh chorizo (chorizo fresco)
100 g	Streaky panceta, in strips
2	Onions
1	Leek
½	Red pepper
1 tsp	Sweet pimentón
plenty	Extra virgin olive oil
to taste	Salt

METHOD

1. Finely chop the onion, leek and red pepper.
2. Sweat the vegetables in plenty of oil over medium-low heat with a pinch of salt until the onion turns translucent.
3. Add the panceta strips and cook 3 to 4 min so they render their fat.
4. Add the crumbled fresh chorizo and fry until it loses its raw colour.
5. Off high heat, add the pimentón and stir quickly so it does not burn. Check the salt.
6. Drain through a sieve and keep the oil, 150 ml for the dough and 25 ml for brushing.

NOTES

The source sets no cooling step and its one temperature note runs the other way — add the strained sofrito oil to the flour while it is still a little warm, since the dough binds better that way.
The source gives no time for the sofrito, only to cook it until the onion turns translucent. The 3 to 4 min for the panceta is its own figure.
Drain off the excess fat. The embutido releases a lot of it and it would soak the dough.
"Iscos" or "liscos" are pieces of pork. This Arguiñano version uses fresh chorizo and panceta instead for more juiciness and flavour.
Fresh chorizo already carries plenty of salt and pimentón, so taste before seasoning.
Pimentón off the heat. Burnt, it turns the whole filling bitter.
Keep the aromatic red oil to brush the empanada, which gives colour and shine.
