CHOCOLATE TART

| YIELD | REST | OVEN | UNIT WEIGHT |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 x 18 cm tart | 8 h for the dough, 1 h lined, then chill to set the ganache | 160C for 35 min, then 140C for 5 min | 150 g |

| ENERGY COST | PRICE |
|---|---|
| $2.41 (40 min bake plus 30 min, 3.5 kW at 59 cents/kWh) | $6 |

DETAILS

- Tags: vegetarian

INGREDIENTS

| | |
|---|---|
| 50 g | Cocoa glaze — granulated sugar |
| 20 g | Cocoa glaze — cocoa powder |
| 35 ml | Cocoa glaze — water |
| 30 g | Cocoa glaze — heavy cream, 45% |
| 3 g | Cocoa glaze — gelatin sheet |

METHOD

1. Make and blind bake the shell, including the egg-yolk seal. See the dough.
2. Make the ganache and pour it into the cooled shell. See the filling.
3. Glaze: soak the gelatin sheet in water.
4. Whisk the cocoa powder into the sugar in a bowl.
5. Heat the water and cream in a pan.
6. Once it boils, whisk in the cocoa and sugar, then bring back to the boil.
7. Off the heat, squeeze the gelatin out and stir it in.
8. Pour over the set ganache and chill.

NOTES

Three separate preparations: shell, ganache, glaze. The shell needs an 8 hour rest, so this is a two-day tart.
The ingredient list here covers the glaze only. Shell and ganache quantities live on their own pages.
Glaze is 50 g sugar to 20 g cocoa with just 35 ml water and 30 g cream, so it is a thin mirror layer rather than a thick topping.
Gelatin goes in after the second boil, off the heat. Boiling gelatin weakens the set.
The earlier entry for this tart carried the bakery-site quantities (200 g flour, 150 g butter, 200 g dark chocolate, 150 ml cream, 3 eggs, 100 g sugar), a different and much larger recipe with dark chocolate and no glaze. Those have been replaced.

DOUGH

Pate Sucree, Chocolate Cacao Method

Yield: 1 x 18 cm tart shell / Rest: 8 h wrapped, then 1 h in the tin / Oven: preheat 170C, bake 160C for 35 min, then 140C for 5 min after the yolk wash / Energy Cost: $2.41 (40 min bake plus 30 min, 3.5 kW at 59 cents/kWh)

INGREDIENTS

| | |
|---|---|
| 75 g | Unsalted butter |
| 25 g | Almond flour |
| 50 g | Sugar |
| 1 g | Salt |
| 30 g | Whole egg |
| 125 g | Wheat flour |
| as needed | Egg yolk, to seal the baked shell |

METHOD

1. Sift the almond flour, sugar and salt together.
2. Melt the butter and whisk it.
3. Add the sifted dry mix in several additions, mixing well after each.
4. Beat the egg and add it in 3 to 5 goes, a little at a time.
5. Mix until it cuts cleanly with a rubber spatula.
6. Add the sifted wheat flour in 2 or 3 additions.
7. Wrap with a little flour and rest 8 hours.
8. Roll out with a dusting of flour. No kneading.
9. Line the tin, prick with a fork, rest 1 hour.
10. Lay foil in and fill with baking stones. Foil holds the shape better than parchment here.
11. Preheat to 170C, bake at 160C for 35 minutes. Give it longer if it is pale.
12. Lift out the stones and foil, then brush egg yolk over the inside.
13. Bake 5 minutes at 140C to set that seal, then cool.

NOTES

Melted butter rather than cold, which is why there is no rubbing-in stage and no kneading.
25 g almond flour against 125 g wheat flour, so a fifth of the dry weight, giving a shorter and more fragrant shell than plain sucree.
The yolk wash after blind baking is the waterproofing step. Skip it and a wet ganache will soften the base.
Drop the oven below the preheat temperature on loading, 170C down to 160C.
Two rests, 8 hours wrapped and 1 hour once lined, and both matter for a shell that holds its walls.

FILLING

Ganache de Miel y Ron

Yield: fills 1 x 18 cm tart

INGREDIENTS

| | |
|---|---|
| 180 g | Milk chocolate |
| 125 ml | Heavy cream, about 45% fat |
| 15 g | Honey |
| 10 ml | Rum |
| 20 g | Unsalted butter |

METHOD

1. Chop the chocolate.
2. Add the honey and rum to the cream and bring to a boil.
3. Pour over the chocolate and emulsify.
4. Let the temperature drop, then add the butter.
5. Once the butter has melted in, pour into the tart shell.

NOTES

Milk chocolate, not dark, so the honey and rum carry the flavour rather than cocoa bitterness.
180 g chocolate to 125 ml cream is a firm ratio, roughly 1.44:1, which is what lets it slice cleanly.
Cream at 45% fat. Lower fat gives a looser set.
Butter goes in off the heat. Added hot it splits the emulsion.