INGREDIENTS

168 g, browned	Unsalted butter
212 g	Brown sugar, packed
50 g	Granulated sugar
1, plus 1 extra yolk	Egg
15 ml	Vanilla extract
220 g	All-purpose flour
3 g	Baking soda
4 g	Kosher salt
210 g	Semisweet or bittersweet chocolate, chips or roughly chopped

METHOD

1. Brown the butter in a skillet over medium heat, until it foams and turns deep golden with a nutty smell. Pour into a heatproof bowl.
2. Cool 5 to 10 minutes, or it will scramble the eggs.
3. Whisk in both sugars, then the egg, yolk and vanilla, until smooth.
4. Add flour, baking soda and salt. Fold with a spatula only until no dry flour shows.
5. Fold in the chocolate.
6. Cover the bowl and chill at least 1 hour, up to overnight.
7. Let the dough soften at room temperature about 20 minutes, until a scoop goes through it, then scoop onto parchment with 5 cm between mounds.
8. Bake at 350F for 12 to 13 minutes. Pull them with golden edges and centres still soft and puffy.
9. Cool on the sheet 5 minutes, salting while warm if wanted, then move to a rack.

NOTES

> Brown butter is the whole point of this one.
> Skip salted butter or drop the added kosher salt.
> They keep cooking on the hot pan, so underbake rather than over.

LEARNINGS

- Best texture of the ten tested, a 5. Appearance only a 4 and flavor 4.5, which still puts it joint top overall with the Levain copycat at 4.5. Medium effort.
